

Maple Weekly Review

Week ending: 29th March 2019

We've had a lovely week learning about the importance of Easter. The children enjoyed a visit to the church to participate in the 'Easter Experience' where they learned about the different elements of Easter through a range of activities. Afterwards they had a great time designing and creating eggs for Easter. In RE, we looked at the descriptions of the events of Easter depicted in the Bible.

English

In English this week, we have continued using the iPads and laptops to research our subjects and have started to write our texts. We revised the main features of an introduction to a biography using examples of Violette Szabo and Anne Frank to help us organise our work. This week we have also completed a reading comprehension test, which raised issues of reading texts carefully and reading context to help understand difficult vocabulary.

Maths

In Maths this week, we have been learning about scale and ratio. The children have had to enlarge shapes and images as well as identify scales of factor. They have applied this to real life problems plans of involving buildings and objects. We have also been revising different areas of Maths including algebra, calculations, geometry and statistics.

Science - Electricity

The children have been developing their knowledge of how circuits work by planning and carrying out an investigation into the effects of the length of wire in series circuits. This has enabled the children to reinforce their understanding of current and voltage as well as scientific enquiry skills such as identifying the different types of variables when planning an experiment.

Art

This week in Art, children have decorated eggs in the style of Fabergé. Children learnt about the different designs and the mystery of the missing eggs! They then decorated individual eggs with ink and sparkly accessories. These will be displayed shortly so look out for them!
