ROSEWOOD WEEKLY REVIEW

Week ending 22.03.19

Dear Parents/Carers,

It has been lovely for the children to share the science investigations that they carried out for homework. We have enjoyed seeing many things explode! Thank you for your support with this.

We have a visit to the church next Wednesday morning (27th) and our Easter service is on Friday (29th). If any parents are available to walk to the church with Rosewood it would be much appreciated. We are still filling our bottle with 5p's. If anyone has any they would be much appreciated by Rosewood.

Our final BSA cake sale will be run by Class Acorn on Friday, 29th March. We hope you will stop by our cake sale after school for some delicious treats.
Thank you for your continued support! Have a lovely weekend!

English:

This week we have been learning about recounts. We have been looking at a book called 'Little Mouse's Big Book of Fears'. The book talks about the fears the author had when she was younger. We have been talking about fears that we used to have or indeed still have and how we can face up to them. Our grammar work has been revisiting the possessive apostrophe and changing adjectives into adverbs.

Maths:

In Maths, we have been concentrating on mental addition and subtraction methods. We have been doing a variety of activities using a known number bond such as $3+4=7$ and then adding $30+40$, $300+400$, $3000+4000$. We have then been adding and subtracting multiples of 10,100 and 1000 to and from four digit numbers.

Other Subjects.

We have continued learning about solids, liquids and gases in our science work this week. The children were given an 'ice hand', which they had to record observations of throughout the day. In groups they worked together to take readings of weight, length and water loss. In our climate work we have been discussing what 'Climate Change' means and its many implications.
