

Class Cedar Newsletter

Cedar have had an active half term, imagining themselves part of a Stone Age tribe gathering food and tools for a great Feast. They developed their historical understanding in subsequent lessons, finding out about the development of agriculture, metal-making and how settlements changed over time! Next half term our visit to the Cambridge museums will bring more of our study to life, and we will venture forward in time to the Iron Age!

Snow!

It was really fun to play in the snow. We made a snow fort! It was like a giant dragon nest. I built it by myself and it took me a few minutes. Carla and some others built a snowman and Joe made a massive snowball!

Enrichment Curriculum

In enrichment we have been doing cave people and Bronze Age. We learnt that bronze changed people's lives. They could make axes and their tools could be stronger. During the Stone Age people learnt how to farm so they weren't hunter-gatherers any more.

SCIENCE

In Science we've been looking inside owl pellets. I found four mole's jaws and one skull. We have been learning about animals diet and we've also been learning about bones and muscles. I really really enjoyed looking inside the owl pellets. It was great fun.

ENGLISH

In English we have been learning about report writing. We wrote reports about a school. We had to use lots of punctuation like full stops, capital letters and connectives, which connect two simple sentences together.

MATHS

In maths we learnt about our column method and learned how to take away the smaller number from the bigger number.

Music

As we go into assembly, we sometimes listen to calm music and sometimes listen to more active music. This week we have listened to the bagpipes and we have also listened to the acoustic guitar and harp. My favourite out of those is the bagpipes.

R.E.

We had a visitor who helped us to learn about Buddhism. We found out that the Buddha survived a year on one grain of rice then he stopped because he thought it was too stressful.

Cedar class enjoy going to clubs in school:

Multisports

In multisports club we played benchball. It was fun because you had to try and get all the people on the bench and whichever team got everyone on the bench first won.

Ukulele club

In Ukulele club we've been learning songs and new notes like the Yellow Submarine. I like it because it's fun and sometimes we split up into groups to learn parts for the songs.
