

Next Week in School

Monday afternoon: the children will be joining the Ely Cathedral Virtual Christingle service

Tuesday: Christmas party lunch – children can ‘dress for dinner’ – as smart as they like!

Wednesday: It’s Panto Day. “Oh no it isn’t!” (yes, it really is). Children will watch a panto from their classrooms. Thank you for your donations to this.

Thursday: Christmas Carols on the playground, complete with keyboard and saxophone. Children can wear festive hats, head bands etc

Weekly Celebrations

Values certificates

Each week, we award certificates to children who have displayed the school’s values of hope, friendship, courage, justice and forgiveness. This week, our certificates were awarded to:

Acorn: Poppy and Josh

Willow: Aarohi and Henry

Hazel: Hartej and Lucienne

Cedar: Fifi and Alex

Rosewood: Ned and William

Cherry: Cora and Joel

Maple: William and Holly

Christmas Videos

The ever resourceful teachers and TAs have found a way of making sure that the children have been able to take part in a Christmas performance. A link to the video will be emailed today. This link is the only way anyone will be able to view this video as it is not uploaded to the public domain. 🎄

Christmas Mischeif!

There have been strange goings on at Bourn Primary School this week. First, Rosewood Class told me that they have seen photographic evidence of a dragon outside my office (I can neither confirm nor deny the existence of a dragon in school) Today, I think a Christmas Elf on the Shelf may have sneaked into school because when I opened my office door, after a meeting, I had been trapped in by lots of tinsel across the doorway! I hope I can get out before bedtime!

‘Cosy Day’

Today was Cosy Day! The children and staff wore their cosiest clothes, with many in onesies, pyjamas, dressing gowns and slippers. Everyone loved it! Sometimes it’s the little things that make us feel happiest.

End of Term You may have seen in the news that the Department for Education have kindly just told schools that we may change the last day of term into an Inset (teacher training) Day. For our school, this already is an Inset Day, so as before, our last day of term will be Thursday 17 December 2020. Please see separate email about Track and Trace.
